"My social action has greatly grown my confidence to stand up for what I believe in."

I have volunteered as a youth tutor and been part of the award-winning Young Migrant and Welsh Group, volunteering to explore issues of identity and belonging. Taking part in social action has greatly grown my confidence to stand up for what I believe in.

I am motivated by my desire to make a difference to the people around me and the wider community. I want to be a voice for the voiceless and share knowledge of the obstacles that others face in their lives.

I have recruited some of my peers to join me in volunteering and am keen to promote the power of volunteering to everyone that I meet to hopefully encourage them to start volunteering, too.
